【1】次の英文を読み,設問に答えなさい。

Dr. Elaine Smith has written a paper about modern sickness and disease. Of course AIDS and SARS are part of the 21st century problems, but CPT has been particularly ( 1 ) in Japan. What is CPT? It is short for "Cellular Phone Thumb," ( 2 ) is the name Dr. Smith gave to the problem.

If you are ever in Japan, (3) (① you ② is ③ all ④ have to ⑤ do ⑥ look around) to see that almost everyone is punching the buttons on their cellular phones. Why? They are entering characters for e-mail to their friends. Dr. Smith has estimated that the average cellular phone user in Japan sends 20 e-mail messages a day. The average e-mail is 45 characters (including pictures, katakana, hiragana, kanji, and Romaji). But each character is not entered with one push of a button. (5) It usually takes four pushes to enter one character. (6) the average e-mail takes 180 pushes with the thumb. At 20 e-mails a day, that's 3500 (7) the thumb has to push a button on the cellular phone each day. (Please note that doesn't include other cellular phone activities.)

People who use computers most often use all 10 fingers, but cellular phones are "thumb machines." Very quickly a person's thumb get tired. And it <sub>(8)</sub> leads to problems that sometimes require <sub>(9)</sub> surgery. Dr. Smith has also noticed that many young people in Japan seem to have bigger thumbs than the older generations. <sub>(10)</sub> (① can ② grow ③ muscles ④ too much ⑤ make ⑥ exercise), if they don't get too tired before that.

Anyhow, Dr. Smith suggests that the 21st century be called the age of CPT.
