Gunkanjima Cruise

Hashi Island, nicknamed “Gunkanjima(Warship Island),” is located on the open sea 19 kilometers southwest of the Port of Nagasaki. Since Mitsubishi became the owners of the island in 1890, it served as the base for an undersea coalfield. The coalmine, however, was closed in January 1974 and people living there left the island. Sleep is very important to humans; the average person spends 220,000 hours of their lifetime sleeping. Until about thirty years ago, no one knew much about sleep. Then doctors and scientists began studying sleep. They have learned that a lot of happens when people sleep, but there are still many things they don't understand.

Doctors say that people have five stages of sleep. During the first two stages, you sleep lightly. If someone calls you or puts his or her hand on you, you wake up quickly. Your body rests quietly. Your heart beats slowly. During stages three and four, you sleep deeply. Even if someone puts his or her hand on you, you don't wake up. Your heart beats more slowly than in stages one and two. You don't hear sounds. Lights don't wake you up. During the fifth — and last — stage of sleep, your heart beats faster than any other stage of your sleep. Your eyes move under your eyelids. All of this happens because you are dreaming.

Everyone dreams. Some dreams are short; some are long. Some people are good at remembering their dreams; others forget their dreams. Some people need more sleep than other people do. Some people get enough rest with only four or five hours of sleep a night. Others may need twelve hours of sleep.

What should you do if you don't sleep? Drink a glass of milk. Don't drink tea. No coffee, either. The best thing is to try to relax before you go to bed. Our body needs to sleep. It is important for us to sleep well.
