一般科目 英 語（2 / 5 枚）

2 次の英文を読んで、下記の設問に答えなさい。（20点）

The arts — painting, music, literature, etc. — are one of the oldest and most important means of expression developed by human beings. Even if we go back to prehistoric eras, we find important works of art and literature. In almost every country, the earliest arts go back to prehistory. The Greek story-poems, such as the Iliad and the Odyssey, probably date back to a time before the beginning of recorded history.

We do not know what music and dancing at such early dates were like, because for a long time there was no good way to make a record of these arts. We do know that music and dance were important very early in human history, however, because there are pictures of instruments and dancers on early Greek vases made as far back as the fifth century B.C.

Art is not just found in all ages; it is found also in all countries of the world. Stonehenge is in England; the golden mask of King Tutankhamen is from Egypt; The Tale of Genji was written in Japan. A writer named Franz Boas points out in his book Primitive Art that in every known culture there is some form of art. Even if the people are barely surviving, they put some of their energy into the arts.

No matter what age or country we consider, there is always art. And good art is appreciated in every age. Old songs and stories, old pictures and statues, have been preserved because they are alive, because they meet the needs of people and because they are liked. There is a timelessness about art which makes us feel it is not old; that is, it does not grow old.

A great work of art is never out of date. Some speak of the basic worth of art: its value is in itself. Bernard Berenson, the art critic and historian, says that the value of art is that it makes our lives richer and better. Perhaps this is the reason art never grows old.

問1 本文中の世界の芸術のうち、イギリスの芸術の例として挙げられているものは何ですか。日本語で答えなさい。答えは下の解答欄に答えなさい。（4点）

問2 次の各文を読み、本文の内容と一致する場合はT、一致しない場合はFを解答欄に答えなさい。（16点）

2. The Iliad and the Odyssey are examples of written records about history.
3. The reason we do not know much about ancient music and dance is that there are no pictures of instruments and dancers.
4. Art is found everywhere in the world as well as in every era in human history.
5. Franz Boas wrote that when people are barely surviving, art provides them with energy.
6. Certain ancient works of art have survived because they continue to satisfy people.
7. A great masterpiece of art is never out of date.
