Tomatoes taste good and are good for your health, too. So, tomatoes are very popular. The tomato was called a "love apple" in old English. Do you know why?

Long ago, in Europe, tomatoes were believed to make people fall in love. People said, "If you eat this love apple, you will be more passionate." Many people believed this. Some say it is because of a tomato's shape. Its shape is similar to a person's heart.

Also, many people believed tomatoes had poison. This was because the tomato looked like one kind of eggplant. It has a strong poison. So, tomatoes were not for eating at that time. However, many people grew tomatoes to enjoy the pretty colors. They thought tomatoes were nicer to look at than to eat.

Then, who started to eat tomatoes? People in Italy did in the 16th century. There was a big food shortage. There was not enough food to eat. So people in Italy tried to eat tomatoes. They tasted better than people thought. Now, tomatoes are eaten around the world.

We live in a world that is filled with animals, but most of us have little contact with them. Animals can be good companions, and all over the world, in both cities and the countryside, people have pets. The most common pets are dogs, cats, birds, and fish. Dogs are ①universally popular because they are loyal as well as playful companions, which is why they are known as "Man's Best Friend."

Cats are also popular house pets because they are gentle and relatively little trouble to care for. Birds, such as parakeets and parrots, are often quite beautiful and they frequently ②entertain their owners by singing and chirping. Fish can't sing but they are beautiful to look at, especially tropical varieties.

Once a group of friends in Northern California decided to take up farming. They bought a small farm where they planted vegetables and also bought a number of young animals to raise. They hoped that by the end of the year they would make a lot of money from selling both the vegetables and the fattened animals. As they began to care for the chickens and pigs, however, the animals grew to be their friends, and taking care of them became a very ③moving experience. At night they had to ④protect the chickens from raccoons, who could easily kill even a big rooster, and then they had to stay up all night helping the mother pig have babies. The animals had become an ⑤intimate part of their lives, and when the time came to sell them, they couldn't part with even one. Suddenly they had over forty pets, and more than one pet pig!
